Cabrillo College Summer Energy Academy Fair today

The Cabrillo College Summer Energy Academy invites the community to its 2011 Energy Fair, where students from the academy will present their projects, interactive displays and games designed to demonstrate the power of sustainable energy sources.

The event takes place noon to 5 p.m. today at Watsonville Plaza, on East Beach Street and Main Street across from the Cabrillo Watsonville Center.

Additional community groups and organizations will also participate, with displays promoting sustainable living. The hands-on activities and demonstrations have been created to educate the public and to share with the greater community a passion for renewable energy, sustainable living and energy conservation.
